

Fire Sunday Evening Damages Garage And Cars

On Sunday evening about 9:30 fire did considerable damage to the interior of the Hyway Garage and three cars.

Own Boudie and his assistant Arthur Arrowood were working on a car and had the engine running to heat it up when suddenly the anti-freeze mixture exploded at the hose connection running from the engine to the top of the radiator. The men escaped being burned and immediately got busy with hand extinguishers. They almost had the blaze out when it suddenly flared up and the whole room was ablaze, again they escaped injury and got out to send in alarm. When the brigade arrived the whole interior of the building was a roaring furnace and it looked to be a bigger job than a chemical engine could cope with. The new chemical engine, purchased by the town several years ago, was put to its first real test. It did all that was claimed of it by the manufacturer. A window was broken and steam instantly entered the room, but it was in a few moments the blaze was under control and a little later completely extinguished.

There were three cars in the garage at the time. A light delivery truck owned by the firm is damaged beyond repair; a coupe badly damaged and another car slightly damaged. It is figured the total loss to building, contents and cars will run about $2,500. The building is owned by the Texaco Oil Company.

THE WHEAT OF WHEAT

Some people venture the opinion that if Canada had not made a bilateral agreement with Britain to take 100 million bushels of wheat, this 100 million bushels would have been dumped upon the open market, which, as one man puts it, "would have caused world wheat prices to collapse like a pack of cards." Those who think this way I courteously suggest are in error; they have been ill advised, for they forget that there had been no agreement, and had this 100 million bushels a year been thrown onto the open market, Britain would have had to take to the open market to buy that 100 million, and

There was a good crowd at the 22nd annual Old Timers' ball last Friday evening.

Tom Brown, who has been an enthusiastic worker at the Recreation Centre has been confined to his home for the past week with rheumatism. His friends hope for a speedy recovery so he can join them at the rink.

Charlie Long left for China last Friday night for a year's visit to his wife and three children. Charlie first came to Gleichen in 1921 direct from China and for the past 14 years he has owned and operated the Rex Cafe. The route he will take home leads to Vancouver, and as there are no boats sailing from there for the Orient he will journey to San Francisco to catch a boat. Charlie once sold wild water; that in China a man could have several wives so just before he left we asked him if he was going to get another wife to which he replied, "No two wives they fight, fight all the time." Tom Hatzek has bought the Rex building and will open it for business shortly.

Work at the Memorial Recreation Centre still goes on under the direction of M. Bolinger. Mr. Bolinger is on the job every day from morning until night. The work of erecting a runway around the ice area is well on the way to completion. Both sides have been finished and the ends bumper to stop curling stones have been placed in position. In the basement of the waiting room the furnace has been fixed up and a fire kept going. At present the waiting room is being boarded up the ceiling put on and the place insulated with shavings. When finished the interior decorators will get busy with paint brushes.

A resident of Alberta for 63 years Benjamin C. Hayer, age 90, died at Eventide Home last week. He was born in New York and coming to Alberta spent 40 years ranching. He had lived for almost four years at the home. The funeral took place Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Major Brundson of the Salvation Army officiating after which interment was made in Eventide cemetery.

Edgar Taylor who has the job of looking after the arena this winter on the additional supply of 100 million would have been immediately balanced by an additional demand from Britain of 100 million. The additional supply, therefore, would have been balanced exactly with the additional demand, and so the world price of wheat would not have been affected by one cent. Conversely, as in the case at present, when 100 million is withdrawn from the open market and sold for 100 million, then this in turn is balanced by the 100 million less demand than open market has from Britain. Again the 100 million less demand from Britain exactly balances the 100 million of less supply.

is all set to make life just as soon as he is given permission to use water by the town council. Remembering last winter's experience with the shortage of water the council is wary this winter in permitting water for the rink, regardless of the fact that the reservoir is full. The council expect the new well pump to arrive any day and just as soon as it does come and is installed in the new well at the west end of the town permission will be given to use the water. The records of this new well show it can easily supply any demand made on it.

According to John Rodomsky Gleichen would have a pretty good hockey team this winter. John states there are quite a few players in town just now and as soon as they can get some practice and whipped into shape a team will be invited to play them. Gleichen should have more and better hockey this winter than for some years past.

John B. Hunter a resident at Eventide Home for the past three years died last week at the age of 70 years. Canadian estimates that one-third of her national income is derived from foreign trade are substantiated by International Trade Organization statistics. Lining countries according to the percentage of their external trade to their national income, New Zealand is the top with 80 percent. Closely followed by Cuba, Belgium and colonies, and Finland. Canada's percentage is the same as that of the United Kingdom, 21 1/2, or very close to a third. At the bottom of the list are the United States, China and Russia, with a percentage of external trade to national income of eight, four and three, respectively.

Recreation Centre Appeals For Funds To Finish Work

The Gleichen Memorial Recreation Centre is nearing completion. The labor has all been voluntary and the money has been raised by donations, and so far all material and expenses have been paid for.

To finish the job $2,700 will be needed and the organization is appealing to all those interested or former residents of Gleichen to help out if they can by donations, large or small. Since the income tax branch generates one tenth of net income to be donated to charity, these donations could be taken direct if your net income tax. Receipts will be given for all money received. Just address your letter the Gleichen Recreation Centre, R. S. McQueen, treasurer.

As this is being written parliament is opening with much of the old time beauty and pageantry. One can not view the forms and ceremonies closely resembling those of the United Kingdom. Without feeling very deeply the long struggle and suffering to gain the political liberty which we enjoy. More deeply still one does feel that it is this political liberty that has given us the opportunity to achieve, under the initiative of freedom, a measure of economic liberty and prosperity far exceeding that of any other form of government and which offers greater prospects for our future.

The prime minister returned from Great Britain and the continent of Europe appearing full of energy and in the best of health. Mr. King emphasized again the dangers of the European situation and stressed the need for moderation "for moderation and goodwill" in all our contacts because impatience and ill-will between nations retarded recovery and prosperity and could lead to disaster.

The highlights of the government's program is already known: to ratify the extensive trade agreements made at Geneva. To consider the measures taken by the government to meet our exchange needs, and to strengthen our domestic economy for the benefit of all sections of our people.

MR. FARMER YOU BE JUDGE AND JURY, TOO!

During the world-wide depression of the thirties, prices for everything, including wheat, were crashing down. Millions of people all over the world were unemployed. So many United States banks failed that President Roosevelt closed all banks for a while to avoid nation-wide panic. Since that time, certain people in Western Canada have never ceased to attack The Winnipeg Grain Exchange and blame its Members for the then low world price of wheat.

Our Members had no more to do with that low price than you did. It was caused by the world-wide depression and the excess of supply of wheat over demand because many people couldn't even afford to buy bread. Every fair-minded farmer knows that, despite years of misleading and contrary propaganda put out by the leaders of the "Pools."

Up to now, The Winnipeg Grain Exchange has ignored this misleading propaganda, but the time has come to refute it. So, in a series of advertisements (of which this is the first), the Exchange will tell you how its Members operate and answer some of the questions asked at farmers' meetings. These advertisements will appear in this paper and in leading farm papers for some time to come. Please read them.

You have heard the "Pools" side often enough. Now read our side and be Judge and Jury in the matter. Our Members do not fear your verdict.

For this reason our 1947 goodwill trip to South Africa and the Mediterranean countries has had exceptional success. Expansion In Australia

THE PRESENT CRITICAL FOOD SHORTAGE in many parts of the world has made it apparent that there is need for an increase in the amount of grain and other foodstuffs available to meet the requirements of those countries where shortages have long been acute. Nations which have been able to produce a surplus of food during the war and in the years which have followed, have sometimes at a considerable sacrifice on the part of their own people, been able to supply much food to the less fortunate nations. However, it is clear that even greater efforts are needed if the present situation is to be improved to any great extent. In this connection it has recently been announced that Australia is expanding her farming industry in order to send greatly increased amounts of food to Great Britain.

Will Last More Than Last Year

The British Minister of Food, Mr. Strachey, recently made known the terms of an agreement under which Australia has undertaken to send Great Britain 75 million bushels of wheat. This will mean that more than half the wheat produced in Australia will be reserved for export to the United Kingdom, and will represent a large increase over last year's shipment, which amounted to less than five million bushels. Australia has also agreed to produce more meat, butter, sugar, dried fruit, eggs and seed oils for Britain. In order to meet these commitments, farming in Australia is to be considerably expanded and consideration is being given to the possibilities of opening up new areas in Northern Australia to provide additional sources of oils and fats. Should this be undertaken, it is likely that the capital would be invested in the project and that British representatives would be sent to consult with Australian experts on the undertaking.

Markets Must Be Assured

Although Britain has agreed to take all the wheat and sugar which Australia can spare, it is not anticipated that expansion on a long-term basis will be the position of these commodities. It is expected that the production of these commodities will be encouraged further to meet their present rate of production. In regard to supplying more beef, pork, eggs and oil-producing seeds, extensive development schemes would be needed and assurance of continued markets would be a most important consideration. Since a large part of the production of Canadian farms has for some time been going to Britain, Canadians have been very much concerned with the question of maintaining the food shortage there, and the contribution which Australia is making in this connection will be regarded with interest by the people of this country.

DEVON SHEEP ARRIVE

Seven Devon Cattle Wool sheep have arrived at the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, and seem to have stood the trip from England very well, and are very healthy. The ram lost a chunk of wool off his hind quarters. But he is a good-looking beast and the six ewes, while varying a little in type of face, are good blocky animals with clean legs and standing firmly on their feet. They are not a black fibre. They are a little lighter than a Shropshire, not so large as a Hampshire, and the wool is close.

Interesting snapshots taken of the recent importation of Devon Cattle Wool sheep upon their arrival at the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg.

Self-Restraint Needed to Fight High Prices, says B of M Head

GEORGE SPINNEY URGES LESS GOVERNMENT SPENDING — ADVOCATES IMMEDIATE SELECTIVE IMMIGRATION PROGRAM

B. C. Gardner, General Manager, Reports Bank's Role in Facilitating Foreign Trade

Montreal, Dec. 1.—Urging a sharpened sense of responsibility among those that make policies which are on their minds, George Spinney, president of the Bank of Montreal, today declared that "self-imposed restraint from charging what the traffic will bear, either for goods or the skill required to produce them, is as necessary, as practical and as prudent as fire insurance on a highly inflammable structure."

Addressing a B of M shareholders' meeting at their 1945 annual meeting, Mr. Spinney also pleaded for an immediate, selective immigration program and a reduction in government spending as a possible aid to a more stable economy.

Emphasizing the danger of the belief held by some economic theorists that by monetary manipulation and state control a community could indefinitely consume more than it is able or willing to produce, Mr. Spinney said that now, "even the most ardent proponent of compensatory public spending would agree that we have arrived at one of those points in the economic cycle where the fashionable virtues of frugality are thoroughly consistent with the dictates of the most advanced economic theory."

"The course now indicated is the difficult and more courageous route of remedial elimination of inordinate government expenditure which represents an unnecessary demand on the taxpayer and on our productive resources," Mr. Spinney said.

Referring to the present high prices, Mr. Spinney said that recent developments emphasized for all influential groups in the community the urgent need of a sharpened sense of responsibility for the implications of their own policies in relation to the behavior of prices and living costs.

"The upshot in prices and costs," he said, "is now a serious problem. It affects the housewife, restricts consumption of the family budget, enormously complicates the problem of providing urgently needed housing at prices that people can afford to pay. It reduces the real value of all accumulated savings in monetary form, eating away at the hard-earned rewards of foresight and thrift."

While admitting that Canadians had been spared the hardships of violent inflation, Mr. Spinney said, "we have experienced enough of the consequences of a gradual depreciation of the internal purchasing power of our dollar in 10 years for the advantage of a dependable standard of value in terms of a stable level of prices."

Mr. Spinney then turned to a discussion of Canada's unbalanced trading relationships, and suggested that the measure recently taken to limit the problem were challenge to the good sense of Canadians. In view of the fact that other nations were suffering, he remarked that the present situation was a "disgrace to the dignity of the title 'austerity'."

For Canadians to achieve their full destiny, he felt that a greater population was essential. Saying that countless people on the other side of the Atlantic regarded this country as a land of police opportunity, Mr. Spinney said, "Canadians are at this moment bringing to step at a low level of existence, many of these people who could be and should be carving out a fuller life for themselves in this country in which there are far too many empty spaces. If ever there was a time when Canada should press forward with an immigration program, that time is now."

General Manager's Address
In his report, Mr. Gardner, general manager, announced a new high of 1,600,000 B of M deposits. As far as evidence of post-war activity, he also revealed that the bank had opened 28 branches and sub-agencies within the last year. There had been a relatively greater increase in bank staff, rising from 8,400 in 1940 to 8,800 at the end of the current fiscal year.

Mr. Gardner pointed out that Canada's foreign trade reached a post-war time high during the past year. The bank's policy of working with established native banks in foreign countries had, he felt, proved helpful in providing customers with unexcelled facilities in conducting their export and import trade.

Pointing out that borrowing for capital purposes had increased, Mr. Gardner emphasized the importance of maintaining, in corporate structure, a reasonable relationship between equity capital and borrowed funds. He pointed out that the bank's policy of maintaining a reasonable relationship between equity capital and borrowed funds was a policy of prudence, especially to concerns that had been over-invested rapidly and whose equity investment had become proportionately small in relation to higher turnover and increased fixed assets.

In his closing remarks, Mr. Gardner paid warm tribute to the staff. Noting that numerous returned veterans on the staff already occupied important posts, he added that many new entrants engaged since the war were also veterans. Mr. Gardner paid special tribute to the women employees who comprise some 56 per cent of the total staff.

"The organization and arrangements relating to the development, the progress and the welfare of our staff are under continuous and careful study," Mr. Gardner said. "I know of no feature of our business that has required more care and consideration over the past year."

$13,000,000 For Provincial Roads

Present indications are that the whole appropriation of $13,000,000 for highway improvements in Alberta this year will be expended, according to Hon. W. A. Fallow, Minister of Public Works.

While the province embarked upon an extensive program of grading, graveling and hard surfacing in the spring of 1947 it was realized that unfavorable weather conditions that other factors had interfered with operations on many projects and progress was delayed.

The Minister has informed officials of the Alberta Motor Association that there is every prospect of the whole appropriation being expended through the various commitments made in numerous contracts. In a number of cases the work will not be completed until construction is resumed next spring.

Over a long period of years, the A.M.A. has stressed the need of highway improvements, bringing the roads to a standard that will compare favorably with tourist highways elsewhere. This year it appears that the outlays for various projects will exceed the amount of revenue estimated from motor and truck license and the gasoline tax.

The provincial government also is expected to propose at the next session of the legislature the highest wage appropriation for 1948 should be at least as much as that voted for the current year. This would mean at least $8,000,000 for surfacing of main highway routes, for which two cents of the nine cent gasoline tax is earmarked.

Cancer Service

Over 130 cancer patients have been served by the new Cancer Dressing Service of the Alberta Branch of the Canadian Cancer Society, which commenced operations last January. It is revealed in a report issued by the society. Active service is being given in Edmonton, Calgary, Medicine Hat, Lethbridge and Drumheller, while the remainder of the cases cover the province from the Peace River to the border. The only service of its kind in Canada, the Cancer Service which operates from the head quarters branch in Calgary under the direction of Mrs. N. S. Symons, R.N., provides free dressings to all cancer patients in the province. This is a home dressing service and is not extended to patients in hospitals.

The approximate cost of the service since its inception has been about $6,500. Assistance over an extended period is being given to the dressing service by numerous volunteer groups, amongst these being the Catholic Women's League, the Ladies Auxiliary of the United Travelers, the American Women's Club and groups of graduate nurses.

It is emphasized by the society in its report that the service is entirely free and dressings may be secured upon application.

Numerous letters from patients now fully recovered indicate that the service is filling a definite need in the comfort and care of both terminal and convalescent cancer patients.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

With Christmas just fourteen days off reminds us that here is no civilized country on earth in which the children are not made happy by the promise of the coming Christmas. But in every country the festival is called by a different name, and its spreading genius is painted with different costumes and manners. You all know about our jolly Dutch Santa Claus, with his shaggy, twinkling eyes his frosty beard, his ruddy face and the bag of treasures with which he comes tumbling down the chimney, while his team of reindeer snort and stamp on the icy roof. The English Christmas is generally well known and the wonders of the German miracle tree, the first sight of which no child ever forgets, but perhaps you are not familiar with the spirit of the season in southern Europe. In Spain the good cheer which it brings is everywhere evident. They are frugal people but there is no sparing at Christmas. The farmers drive turkeys into Madrid in great droves, which they confound for door to door. But the headquarters of the marketing during those days are in Place Mayor where every variety of fruit and provision is sold. There is nothing more striking than those vast heaps of oranges, nuts and dates from Africa, every flavor and color of tropical fruit and in the stalls beneath the gloomy arches, the butchers do the flourishing trade. All is gay and joyous chattering and feeding, greeting of friends and Slips backets. The sky is wintry but the ground is red and rich with the fruits of summer.

EXPERIMENTAL FARM NOTES

The importance of minerals in livestock rations is gaining general recognition but some confusion still exists in the minds of certain people regarding the actual requirements. Generally speaking calcium and phosphorus are the only minerals that need cause concern to the feeder of live stock being fattened for market in Southern Alberta. Even then it is only young stock such as calves that have a high requirement for mineral supplements if the ration is balanced in other respects.

Evidence obtained at the experimental station, Lethbridge, and at other institutions indicates that a ration of good quality alfalfa hay and liberal amounts of grain the requirements of most fattening animals for both calcium and phosphorus will be met. The alfalfa in this area usually is low in phosphorus but this deficiency is made up by the phosphorus in grain. If no grain or very little grain is fed some deficiency of phosphorus may occur. This is true if a large amount of beet pulp or pulp of molasses takes the place of grain as these feeds are low in both calcium and phosphorus.

There is always a possibility that cattle coming into a feedlot have been on a mineral deficient ration previously so it is good practice to provide them with a mineral supplement or at least the first month that they are on feed. A mineral mixture composed of 35 pounds of bone meal or mono-calcium phosphate and pounds of salt is very satisfactory if the stock are being fed alfalfa hay.

On the roughage consists of straw or grass hay it is advisable to add 20 pounds of ground limestone to the above mixture. Commercial mineral mixtures may be used with equal satisfaction provided that they have a high phosphorus content. There is no need to pay fancy prices for fancy mixtures that may contain ingredients that are not required.

It is a better procedure to have the mineral mixture available to the stock in a separate trough than to mix it with other feeds that are being fed. Animals usually will regulate their mineral consumption to their needs as long as the minerals are available and forcing them to eat more than they require is a waste of money.

THE CRACKER BARREL

On the part of Mr. MacKinnon's trade mission created good will for Canada that will be of great value when we reach the position, now predicted, where we need wider markets for the things we produce.

To Canadians Mr. MacKinnon said, "Never before have I been so impressed by the need of Canada to buy from the countries which buy so much from us, especially those of the British Commonwealth countries. We must realize that by so doing we indirectly assist and strengthen the United Kingdom in her present financial difficulties and, of course, help ourselves." Last year we sold to the Union of South Africa 10 million dollars worth of our products and purchased less than eight million from them.
